MINISTRE DE LA JUSTICE
DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

1977-1978

1. The Commission on the Administration of Justice was established in 1976 to study the administration of the courts and to make recommendations for improvement. The Commission's report, published in 1977, contains a number of proposals for reform, including the creation of a new judicial branch, the abolition of the judicial council, and the establishment of a new judicial council.

2. The Commission's proposals are based on the principle of judicial independence and the need for a more efficient and economical system.

RECOMMENDATIONS

3. The Commission recommends that the following changes be made to the administration of the courts:

- (a) The creation of a new judicial branch, consisting of the Supreme Court, the Federal Court, and the Provincial Courts.
- (b) The abolition of the judicial council and the establishment of a new judicial council, consisting of the Chief Justice, the President of the Provincial Courts, and a representative of the public.
- (c) The establishment of a new judicial council, consisting of the Chief Justice, the President of the Provincial Courts, and a representative of the public.
- (d) The establishment of a new judicial council, consisting of the Chief Justice, the President of the Provincial Courts, and a representative of the public.

4. The Commission also recommends that the following changes be made to the administration of the courts:

- (a) The creation of a new judicial branch, consisting of the Supreme Court, the Federal Court, and the Provincial Courts.
- (b) The abolition of the judicial council and the establishment of a new judicial council, consisting of the Chief Justice, the President of the Provincial Courts, and a representative of the public.
- (c) The establishment of a new judicial council, consisting of the Chief Justice, the President of the Provincial Courts, and a representative of the public.
- (d) The establishment of a new judicial council, consisting of the Chief Justice, the President of the Provincial Courts, and a representative of the public.

5. The Commission's proposals are based on the principle of judicial independence and the need for a more efficient and economical system.
